The bank exchanges at the New-York Clearing House and the stocks sold at the New-York Stock Exchange las week and for the week of the preceding two years compare as follows:

THE MONETARY SITUATION.

The local money market last week ruled unchanged with rates at 31-2a4 per cent till on Thursday, when there was a flurry which temporarily established an 8 per cent rate in the last half-hour of business, but the demand was so freely met that at the close the rate again was 4 per cent, with an excessive sumply offered at that rate. For a reason for this flurry on Thursday it is necessary to go no further than the causes afforded by the action of the Stock Exchange. As the Exchange was to adjourn on Friday—not a legal holiday—Thursday was the last money day of the week and loans made on that day at the Exchange run till Monday. As a consequence many lenders of call money were compelled to withhold a part of their funds to meet contingent demands of Friday and Saturday. In other words, the usual Friday withdrawal because of loans nob being callable on Saturday, was aggravated by the imposition of an extra day, for which provision had to be inade. The "activity in stock speculation" had nothing to do with the question, because the transactions were even smaller than in the preceding week; the "activity was confined to an advance in prices. It will be noted by the comparisons given in our bank statement that their loans now are $10,000,000 less, and their total teserve only $1,800,000 less, and their total teserve THE MONETARY SITUATION.

dently is made on rising averages, so that the amount of cash on hand at the close of business yesterday was somewhat greater than the sum reported as the average of the week. The statement results in a loss of $2,889,175 to the surplus reserve, and leaves it at $1,442,475, against $1,409,575 April 6, 1889; $8,620,275 April 7, 1888, and $4,115,575 April 9, 1887.

The changes for the corresponding weeks of preceding years were as follows: 1889—Loans decrease $1,200,300, cash decrease $5,814,500, deposits decrease $7,095,800, and surplus reserve decrease $1,200,300, cash decrease $61,500, deposits decrease $1,747,200, and surplus reserve decrease $5,257,800, cash increase $914,800, deposits increase $1,746,200, and surplus reserve decrease $4,747,00, and surplus reserve decrease $4,640,550: 1888—loans decrease $914,800, deposits increase $1,200,300, cash increase $914,800, deposits increase $5,257,800, cash increase $914,800, deposits increase $1,740,740, and surplus reserve decrease $4,162,00, and surplus reserve decrease $4,162,00, and surplus reserve decrease $1,200,300, deposits decrease $6,1740, because of the corresponding week of 1887 for which the changes are quoted ended on April 9 instead of, as for the week of this year, on April 5, and consequently reflects a later movement in the month.

Subjoined is yesterday's statement, compared with the corresponding dates of 1889 and 1888; which the corresponding dates of 1889 and 1888; with the corresponding dates of 1889 and 1888; and 1888;

as indisposed to join the reorganized interstate Railway Association, except upon their own terms. Yet the railways go on reporting increased gross and net earnings.

The declines in the bank clearances of New-York during the last two weeks are more than accounted for by the smaller volume of business at the Stock Exchange. For the last two weeks of this year the transactions in slocks amounted to 1,200,000 shares, against 3,000,000 shares for the weeks of 1888. Boston and Parladeaphia exchanges suffered from the same course, while nearly all the Western cities, especially those where there are no speculative exchanges, continue to show large gains on the weeks of preceding years. These are the main facts in the situation, although there may be believers in the prophetic earthquakes of April 12. If they come it will make little difference to speculators whether they are "bong" or "short" of securities, but probably they would prove the most effective liquidation of a large "short" account.

The business last week in stocks was even more restricted in volume than in the preceding week. The transactions in listed stocks agaregated only 464,232 shares, against 508,500 shares for the preceding week; and the whole business, including the "unlisted" department, amounted only to 515,360, against 622,704 shares for the preceding week. Intil on Wednesday the market suffered from extreme dulness, but developed a strength which is usually not the accompaniment of extreme lethargy. Wednesday and Thursday were marked by sharp advances and larger transactions than on the preceding days, but still the business dore was small. The Saturday half holiday, in anticipation of a "hold" bank statement, was sold off in the carly dealings, then lapsed into dulness and steadiness much of the same character as was winessed on Monday and Thursday were marked by sharp advances and larger transactions than on the preceding days, the trill result in the Mackay system was important, and Clesaperake and Ohio systems of the joint interest in t dissolve if the various managers could place themselves right upon the stock business. Certain it is, according to their own statements, verified by the reports of earnings, that they all now have more business than they are competent to transact, and that therefore there is no excuse for quarrelling about small things at this particular time.

There undoubtedly was some liquidation of the "short" account during the latter part of the week, and efforts were made to accomplish more. But it is cuestionable if the aggrerate "short" interest was reduced to any extent. The happy settlement arrived at between the contestants for centrol of Reading Railroad affairs probably prevents a long and expensive litigation, while it practically is a success for the contestants. It harmonizes different interests, and its effect was seen in better prices for all the Reading securities. It disturbed the "short" interest in it, and in Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and invaried a healthier tone to the securities of all the coal stocks.

Following is our usual table, giving the number of shares sold of all stocks, the highest, lowest and final prices of the week, together with the final price of a week ago, prefixed by the average prices of April 7, 1889:

The State of Georgia advertises a proposed issue of $1,500,000 bonds for the purpose of raising mency with which to pay off an amount of the public debt due October 1, 1500, and for other purposes. One hundred thousand dollars of the principal of said bonds will mature January 1, 1917, and $100,000 will mature on each succeeding January 1, until the whole series is redeemed.
